

Dear Hiring Manager,

I would like to recommend Leo Liu as a software developer for your organization. Leo was employed as a frontend development intern at Genesys from May to August 2017 and worked under my supervision.

During his work term, Leo demonstrated solid technical skills, strong ability to learn, high level of commitment and good work ethics. He was a strong team player who worked effectively in a team setting and often went above and beyond to support other team members. Most importantly, he had completed his assignments on time and with good quality.

I believe Leo would be an asset to any development team. Please feel free to contact me for any further questions.

Sincerely,

Andrew Ng
Director, Development at Genesys
